Hendrik Nolting (team - manager):

Dennis is in a bit of a hole right now. His basic fitness is good and he's always capable of one or two really fast laps. But he can't keep up a top pace over a longer period. His results from the Dutch - Open in Rhenen on Thursday (5th and 7th) were acceptable still especially considering that a fading rear shock in heat 2 ruined his chances to finish in a better position. In Reutlingen though he had 2 top starts and dropped back through the field after only one or two good laps. This is something he really has to turn around quickly.

Michael's goal for this year was to gain as much experience as possible and make the most out of it. Even though he didn't qualify for the main races in Reutlingen, we can still see small improvements every weekend. If he can manage to keep this progress up, we will be satisfied.
